66 Cox Street Mudgee

DRAFT

Aerial View of 66 Cox Street by First National Real Estate agent. April 2024.

Barbara Hickson Architect & Heritage Adviser

DATE: 2nd May 2023

Introduction

It is a requirement of MWR Council that a digital record be made. This record was made before any demolition commenced and is in the condition as evacuated some decades ago. It is the intention to add some images when demolition occurs.

Statement of Significance

The house at 66 Cox Street is not a listed heritage item.

It is a typical late Victorian timber framed small settler's cottage c. 1890s and the home for many decades of members of the Fitzpatrick family who were well known members of the Mudgee Community.

Authorship

Barbara Hickson, heritage adviser.

Barbara Hickson is an architect and a heritage adviser. Graduating from Sydney University she became a Federal Government architect in 1974. After a decade in Sydney she worked as a self-employed architect in Rylstone and then Mudgee NSW. Barbara was invited to become a heritage adviser by the NSW Heritage Council, a Master of Heritage Conservation degree followed. As a heritage adviser Barbara has worked for 13 different NSW councils, travelling throughout the west and north west of NSW, carrying out many local projects. Barbara served as heritage adviser to Bathurst Council for almost 22 years.

Barbara has won several National Trust Awards, a highlight being The Cathy Donnelly Award in 2007 as the Outstanding Female Heritage Professional.

Photographic Method

This recording is in compliance with the Heritage Office Standard: 'Photographic recording of Heritage items', using Digital Capture.

The sketch plan is to approx. scale 1:100 by Barbara Hickson. External images were taken before and after internal images. With no electricity the internal images are artificial battery light only.

Report in PFD digital format only.
